CONTENTS

- 163 The Contentious Politics of African Urbanization . . . . . Jeffrey W. Paller
The rapid and often unregulated growth of African cities has created new opportunities for community organizing. Entrepreneurial politicians are rising to the occasion.
- 170 AIDS in Africa: Progress and Obstacles. . . . . Sanyu A. Mojola
Innovative global and local initiatives have curbed the epidemic for now, but millions are still infected and continued progress will require a sustained international commitment.
- 176 South Africa's Divided Working-Class Movements . . . . . Marcel Paret
Trade unions played a key role in the transition from apartheid. Now their unity is being tested by changing workplaces and shifting political loyalties. Eighth in a series on labor relations around the world.
- 183 The Long Shadow of Genocide in Rwanda . . . . . Susan Thomson
Over two decades after the slaughter, the ruling party has failed to foster a true reconciliation process. Instead it promotes a vision of ethnic unity primarily intended to secure its grip on power.
- 189 Mali's Enduring Crisis . . . . . Susanna D. Wing
Foreign interventions saved the weak state from Islamist and separatist insurgencies that engulfed the nation five years ago. The underlying problems of corruption and bad governance remain unaddressed.
- PERSPECTIVE
- 194 A Nigerian President's Disappointing Return . . . . . Ebenezer Obadare
Muhammadu Buhari, who made bold promises to clean up the political system and put the economy on a firmer footing, has dashed high expectations with his directionless leadership.
- BOOKS
- 197 Saints and Sinners in Somalia . . . . . Ken Menkhaus
A veteran journalist's account of the life of a colorful former mayor of Mogadishu offers insights into the complex realities of a city and a country often reduced to caricature.
- THE MONTH IN REVIEW
- 200 March 2017
An international chronology of events in March, country by country, day by day.
