CONTENTS

- 331 An Islamist Power Grab Derails Democracy in Turkey. Kerem Öktem
A failed coup has only accelerated President Erdoğan's consolidation of power, giving him a pretext to unleash massive purges that aim to silence opposition and reshape society.
- 337 The Origins and Consequences of US Nonintervention in Syria Faysal Itani
Barack Obama's disdain for the foreign-policy establishment's "playbook" kept him from taking aggressive action in Syria, allowing a humanitarian disaster to spiral unchecked.
- 343 Why 'Artificiality' Fails to Explain Iraq's Woes Fanar Haddad
The persistent notion that arbitrary colonial-era borders threw together peoples who can never coexist is not just bad history—it obscures the real problems of institutions deformed by an authoritarian legacy.
- 349 Labor's Role in the Arab Uprisings and Beyond Ian M. Hartshorn
Unions in the region have long been tightly controlled by the state. But workers were instrumental in the 2011 revolts, especially in Tunisia and Egypt. Third in a series on labor relations around the world.
- 355 Can the Saudi Economy Be Reformed? Karen E. Young
With oil prices down, a young prince has launched an attempt to create a more dynamic economy. The plan calls for radically revising a ruling bargain that has left citizens dependent on government largesse.

PERSPECTIVE

- 360 Is Israeli Democracy in Danger? Dov Waxman
Demographic shifts have contributed to an illiberal trend also fueled by five decades of occupation and settlement of Palestinian lands. The new right-wing majority is trying to stifle dissenting voices.

BOOKS

- 363 Islamists and Liberal Values in the Middle East Ewan Stein
A new book's argument that Islam is exceptional, with an inbuilt resistance to democracy, sounds to our reviewer like an echo of an earlier era's Orientalist assumptions.

THE MONTH IN REVIEW

- 366 October 2016
An international chronology of events in October, country by country, day by day.
- 367 2016 Current History Index
