

SEPTEMBER 2018

CURRENT HISTORY

A Journal of Contemporary World Affairs

CHINA AND EAST ASIA

Limited Openings

Social Mobility and the Chinese Dream

David S. G. Goodman

A Panic in Australia

Jia Gao

The 'New' Greater China

Allen Chun

People Power?

Populism in the Philippines

Nicole Curato

Indonesia's Activist Generation

Doreen Lee

Plus:

Trump and North Korea

Bruce Cumings

Experiments

a C. Teets

CURRENT HISTORY

September 2018

Vol. 117, No. 800

CONTENTS

- 203 Social Mobility in China: Class and Stratification in the Reform Era . . . . . David S. G. Goodman
Decades of economic growth have lifted hundreds of millions out of poverty, but privilege still flows from inherited party connections. First in a series on social mobility around the world.
- 209 The Power and Limits of Populism in the Philippines . . . . . Nicole Curato
While many Filipinos marginalized by previous leaders feel a strong connection with President Rodrigo Duterte despite his brutal drug war, they are still pressing him to fulfill his promises.
- 215 A Cambodian Fusion of Personality, Party, and the State . . . . . Kosal Path
Thanks to expanding ties with China, long-ruling Prime Minister Hun Sen has been able to stamp out the main opposition party with little concern for criticism from the West.
- 222 The Legacies of the Reformasi Movement in Indonesia . . . . . Doreen Lee
Two decades later, veterans of the 1998 student movement are still pushing for democratic tolerance and pluralism, but illiberal and extremist forces are on the march.
- 229 Chinese Australians Face a Foreign Influence Panic . . . . . Jia Gao
Fears that China has infiltrated Australia's institutions and government are stigmatizing Chinese immigrants, whose entrepreneurial spirit has been misunderstood.
- 235 Convergences and Divergences Within the 'New' Greater China . . . . . Allen Chun
The idea that China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan are merging into a transnational system needs updating to account for the mainland's economic weight and the evolution of local identities.
- PERSPECTIVE
- 241 Trump, Kim, and an Uncanny Diplomatic Opening . . . . . Bruce Cumings
For all his bluster, Donald Trump may have recognized what US strategy long refused to acknowledge: North Korea is ready to discuss denuclearization in exchange for recognition and respect.
- BOOKS
- 244 Red Swan Song: The End of Policy Experimentation in China? . . . . . Jessica C. Teets
Will Xi Jinping's increasingly authoritarian rule stifle innovation by local officials, which has been instrumental in the Chinese communist regime's resilience and economic success?
- FOUR MONTHS IN REVIEW
- 247 April–July 2018
An international chronology of events from April through July, country by country, day by day.