On the cover

What to expect from the second half of Donald Trump's term: leader, page 7. The era of divided government begins, inauspiciously, page 23. Jim Mattis and John Kelly had little influence on the president but were safeguards against calamity: Lexington, page 27

• Not safe yet; the euro at 20
It needs faster reform if its next 20 years are to be better than its last: leader, page 8. Briefing, page 13

• Flower power in Beijing
In the 70th year of Communist rule, China plans to show off every aspect of its growing might. Its anxiety will be evident, too, page 21

• Why the second little pig was right
Buildings produce a huge amount of carbon. Using more wood would be greener, page 10. Governments are trying, but mostly failing, to reduce carbon emissions from constructing and using buildings, page 43

• A special report on childhood
In just a few decades it has changed out of all recognition. What does that mean for children, parents and society at large? After page 34
